

Comment from Jennifer Kelly-Kennedy on Identifying and Reducing Burdens in Administrative Processes

October 30, 2023

The only suggestion that I have with regards to the current draft is one addition in the first provision under Agency Responsibilities:

16. Agency leaders should prioritize burden identification strategies and burden reduction efforts, ~~using and use~~ their leadership positions to articulate burden reduction goals for agency staff and outline commitments for achieving them, particularly when such commitments require collaboration between agency departments. Agencies should connect their burden reduction goals with their strategic planning and reporting goals under the Government Performance and Results Act.

I think it's important to highlight the Burden Identification Strategies suggested in the first part of the Recommendation.
