Good Afternoon

Wanted to submit my comments regarding the goal and how closely to the target we seem to be achieving.

I am a multiple patent holder as lead inventor and come from a long line of inventors.

Believe we do not have the correct target:

Which should not be small claims, but protection for small entities.

In addition, Injunction should be the default remedy.

I would point to Saia v Northrop Grumman to highlight the abuses that this effort should be focused on preventing.

Please feel free to contact me should you have any questions.

Respectfully,
