

*AdministrativeFIX Blog Policy

*AdministrativeFIX is the official blog of the Administrative Conference of the United States. This page provides a forum for the administrative law community and the general public to both learn about the Agency and its initiatives and to provide feedback.

The goal of *AdministrativeFIX is to create a dialogue related to the administrative state, improve the administrative processes across government, and encourage the open exchange of information, resources and comments.

ACUS will not collect or retain personally-identifiable information (PII) on this blog or website. Note that this is a moderated page, meaning that all comments will be reviewed for appropriate content. Please show respect to those who will read your comments. Comments that do not directly relate to the posted topic, including abusive or vulgar language, spam, hate speech, personal attacks, or similar content will be considered “off topic” and may be removed. We reserve the right to determine which comments are acceptable for this page. We will however, post and attempt to comment on legitimate questions and concerns regarding ACUS’s mission, research and recommendations.

All comments published on all parts of this page, even when the commenter identifies himself or herself as an ACUS employee, are not considered official communications from the Administrative Conference of the United States.

ACUS will not collect or retain these comments in our records. However, this is a public forum and any information provided in comments may be publicly available and the Agency’s privacy policy applies. This is considered a public forum and by posting personal information, you do so at your own risk. ACUS disclaims any liability for any loss or damage resulting from any comments posted on this page.

This forum may not be used for the submission of any claim, demand, informal or formal complaint, or any other form of legal and/or administrative notice or process, or for the exhaustion of any legal and/or administrative remedy.

Special Note Concerning “Guest Posts” and Blog Roll

ACUS publishes pieces in its guest column which are written by Conference Members, employees, and the general public. As such, a wide range of viewpoints are expressed. Those views do not necessarily reflect the views of the Administrative Conference, its leadership, or its employees. The intent of the *AdministrativeFIX blog is to encourage collaboration and share ideas. In fact, some of the views expressed by the authors of blogs listed in the Blog Roll may
