ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE IN FEDERAL AGENCIES
Symposium Presented by:
Administrative Conference of the United States and the Institute for Technology Law & Policy at Georgetown Law

Artificial Intelligence In The Trenches:
A View From Inside The Agencies

Thursday, August 13, 2020, 1:00 p.m. – 2:00 p.m. ET Webinar (registration required at link below)

Artificial Intelligence plays an increasingly important role in the administration of federal programs. Through four virtual panels this summer, ACUS and ITLP will explore current and future agency uses of AI and their interplay with administrative and constitutional law doctrines.

In this final panel, current and former agency officials will discuss how their agencies currently use or contemplate using AI to support their missions and improve the government’s efficiency and effectiveness.

Opening Remarks
Matthew Wiener, Vice Chair and Executive Director, Administrative Conference of the United States
Jeff Gary, Institute for Technology Law and Policy, Georgetown University Law Center

Panel Discussion
Marco Enriquez, Senior Applied Mathematician, Office of Data Science, Securities and Exchange Commission
Kurt Glaze, Program Analyst, Office of Analytics, Review, and Oversight, Social Security Administration
Sean Khozin, Global Head of Data Strategy, Janssen R&D; Formerly Associate Director, Oncology Center of Excellence, Food and Drug Administration
Krista Kinnard, Director, AI Center of Excellence, General Services Administration

Moderator: Stephen Sanford, Director, Center for Strategic Foresight, Government Accountability Office

Registration Required:
https://attendee.gotowebinar.com/register/6989945470876531724

Event will be recorded and transcribed. For more information, visit www.acus.gov/AIsymposium.