

Comment from Richard J. Pierce, Jr., Senior Fellow, on Public Availability of Information About Agency Adjudicators
December 3, 2020

As you know, the constitutional status of many adjudicators and the continuing validity of the means through which they can be appointed and removed are subject to active litigation in scores of cases that are now pending in circuit courts. Did you consider recommending that agencies include a reference to any pending cases in which the continued validity of their means of appointment and/or removal of adjudicators is at stake?
